

PATIENT EDUCATION MODULE CATALOGUE

EUPATI offers a catalogue of modules to educate patients and patient advocates at both introductory and expert-level training in medicines research and development. More than 150 patient experts have graduated from the course since 2012 throughout 3 cohorts. The EUPATI Fellows have acquired skills and knowledge to make significant contributions in the process of patient involvement in medicines research and development in Europe and are actively involved in the high level of the process. EUPATI provides public courses available to patients and patient advocates and on-request face-to-face and webinars modules to communities with training needs in medicines research and development since 2019.
